

Privacy Notice – Access to Medical Reports

The Access to Medical Reports Act 1988 allows both employers and insurers to request a medical report from a GP. Employers and Insurers are required to seek a patient's consent prior making a request and a patient must be informed of their right to withhold consent during the process. Where requests are made for copies of your medical records for insurance purposes, we will contact you to discuss the request and confirm you are happy for us to release the records. This is in line with guidance from the British Medical Association (BMA) and the Information Commissioners Office (ICO).

Patients may also request a copy of the report however, there are some exemptions to this right that can be applied in certain circumstances such as:

- Where serious harm to the physical or mental health of the individual or others or would indicate the intentions of the practitioner in respect of the individual.
- Where the report reveals information about another person, or reveals the identity of another person who has supplied information to the practitioner about the individual.
